Expectations:

1. Lived experiences are valued and listened too (and benefits to these lives too).
2. Being an active participant/balanced power.
3. Air pollution reduces overall as a result of increased PT use.
4. More empathy from Metlink to stakeholders and the environment.

Hi im dame and i am a very opportunistic guy. I love living in Wellington as the nature is beautiful. However the issue of climate change in specific to air pollution is significant in Wellington and i want to do my bit to protect this beautiful city. There are many benefits that could come from lower PT prices and many people could just live more convenient and healthy lives. Im hoping that i can negotiate with Metlink without them constantly being in a constant financial mindset and that why will listen and value all i have to say about how our lives could be so much better, and keep us users interests/wants in mind including the benefits that can come for both parties which they may have not realized yet with their egoistic 'knowledge'. As this is a problem that can only be solved through a balance of power. I am very keen to change the PT system in Wellington and am willing to offer any type of hospitality or further related work to establish this solution with the flexibility of adapting/making changes along the way if things dont work out but we will never learn how to resolve the airpollution issue if we dont try solutions out!
